WASHINGTON.

THE HOUSE DEBATE ON THE APPROPRIATION BILL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The House has made little progress thus far today on the Appropriation bill, the time being consumed in trivial amendments. An attempt made to incorporate an appropriation affecting the payment of arrears of pensions was not successful, not from an indisposition, however, to furnish such funds, and Mr. Hale (Rep., Me.) took pains to declare that whatever appropriation bills might fail through a difference between the two Houses or from other causes, no one would take the responsibility of blocking an appropriation to pay arrearages of pensions.

THE CHINESE QUESTION.

An Able Argument by Senator Hamlin.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Mr. Hamlin gave the Senate today a needed lecture on international law. He began with a beautiful tribute to Senator Morton, whose unfinished report on Chinese immigration was interrupted by his death. He said that, as that Senator declared, this question involves some of the fundamental principles of our government. We negotiated a treaty almost by force. By it we secured important advantages, and in turn permitted unlimited Chinese emigration. Now we propose in direct contravention of article fifth of that treaty, to restrict immigration. He would prefer to proceed in the ordinary way as we would do in the case of a warlike European power, and as we had recently done in the case of England. We ought to be guarded by this practice and precedent.

The speech was a masterly exposition of the legal aspects of the case, and a strong plea for consistency and dignity in our international relations.

OUTLOOK FOR THE ARMY BILL.

Views of Leading Senators Regarding the Reorganization Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Army bill in the Senate is in charge of Senators Blaine, Allison and Withers and they will not agree to General Burnside's reorganization scheme as attached to the Army Appropriation bill. Mr. Blaine is maturing a plan of reorganization of his own which will be very much more simple and moderate. Senator Allison is opposed to attaching any reorganization scheme to the Army bill and is on principle opposed to loading the Appropriation bills with general legislation. The committee will meet tonight to consider the bill.

THE ARREARS OF PENSIONS.

Arrangements For Payments.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The commissioners of pensions was in conference with the House Appropriation Committee today for the purpose of settling the bill to pay arrears of pension. An amendment proposed by the commissioner, which will be embodied in the bill, will reduce the amount nearly ten million dollars. The bill appropriates $26,800,000—$25,000,000 for arrears and $1,800,000 for the current year. The amendment of the commissioner is as follows, and equalizes the pensions: "The rate at which arrears shall be computed in cases which have heretofore been allowed, shall be granted according to the disability of the pensioner."

THE LIVERPOOL STRIKE.

The Troubles Probably Ended.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 16.—The trades council and laborers' delegates held a consultation today and advised the men to accept the masters' offer of arbitration. This is considered the probable termination of the strike.

The Liverpool Laborers.—Continued Arbitration—The Strikers Likely to Yield.

LIVERPOOL, February 15.—The strikers' delegation this morning proposed arbitration to the shipowners, meantime resuming work on the old terms. This the owners rejected, but agreed to arbitration provided the men resume at the proposed reduction. The matter now awaits the decision of the strikers. It is thought they must yield.

RUSSO-ROUMANIAN RELATIONS.

A Sharp Hint of the Czar's Displeasure.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Advices from St. Petersburg say that Baron Stuart, Russian Representative at Bucharest, has been appointed Chief of Archives of the Foreign Ministry. No successor at Bucharest to Baron Stuart will be appointed for the present.

This is evidence of Russia's displeasure at Roumania.

SPAIN.

Fatal Marine Disasters.

MADRID, Feb. 16.—Two British ships for Barcelona from the East are quarantined at Port Mahon. There was a severe storm on the coast of Galicia yesterday. Two vessels went ashore and twenty-eight persons were drowned.

MATTERS IN ALASKA.

The Indians Threaten to Annihilate the Whites.—Aid Asked from a British Man-of-War.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—A Victoria dispatch says steamship California left Sitka, Feb. 10th, and arrived at Esquimalt, Feb. 14th. There was much excitement in Sitka when she left, the Indians having threatened the annihilation of the whites. The citizens were armed, awaiting their attacks. Two Indians, who murdered James Brown and confessed their guilt, were surrendered to the Collector and are now on board the California en route to Portland to be turned over to the United States District Attorney to await the action of the authorities at Washington.

Three families came down on the steamer fleeing from danger. The storekeepers are preparing to emigrate by the next steamer. Father Metropolity and his congregation, in conjunction with the American citizens of Sitka, have petitioned the commander of Her Majesty's man-of-war, now lying at Esquimalt, to come to their immediate aid, fearful that they cannot allay the disturbances before the United States government can send assistance.

It is rumored that Cutting & Co.'s cannery, four miles from Sitka, is sacked and burned, but no reliance is placed in the rumor, because the company have Indians in their employ who seem peaceably inclined. The Collector of Alaska has telegraphed Secretary Sherman for aid. The Indians threaten to kill two white men in retaliation for the two prisoners.

Plague Reports.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The Standards Berlin dispatch states that the Moscow journals were not allowed to appear Friday last, until they had suppressed unfavorable news relative to the plague.

An Insane Juror.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The Sun says Herman Dugan, one of the jurors in the Smith murder trial, begun in Jersey City, last week, has been declared insane. A new jury will have to be empanelled and the case commenced anew.

The Danube Quarantine Raised.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—A Times dispatch from Sistova says the Roumanian quarantine on the Danube has been suspended after lasting six days.

A GOOD STORY.

WHY RUTHERFORD B. HAYES DIDN'T HANG A WOMAN.

Judge J. M. Jones, who was prosecuting attorney during the trial of Mrs. Sarah Victor, the Lucretia Borgia of the Western Reserve, tells an interesting incident connected with the commutation of her death sentence. After this sentence had been pronounced there was a general feeling of apprehension that Gov.—now President—Hayes would interpose the executive clemency, and among those who shared in this feeling to a large extent was a prominent Cleveland lady. She was a very high church Episcopalian, and, during the trial, was especially bitter in her expression of feeling against Mrs. Victor. She was also a personal friend of Gov. Hayes, and, meeting him upon several different occasions after the sentence had been pronounced, invariably assailed him with some such remark as, "Well, Governor, I hope you are not going to do anything for that bad woman, Mrs. Victor, are you?" His Excellency replied that the case had not been brought under his consideration, and until it had he did not propose to move in the matter. When the fact that he had commuted the sentence was made public through the press, this Cleveland lady, who was in Columbus at the time, called at once at the gubernatorial mansion. The Governor welcomed her as usual, and anticipating her errand, said blandly, "Well, you see, I have commuted the sentence of your Mrs. Victor."

"Yes," was the energetic reply, "I see you have. Now I would like to know what your reasons were."

"Well, madam, I will tell you confidentially just what they were. Of course it will go on the records as having been done on general principles. The state of Ohio has never hanged a woman, and I have thought best not to allow it to be done in this instance. But between you and I my private reasons are these: A few days ago I received a letter from your city that established beyond a doubt the fact that Mrs. Victor was a member in good and regular standing of the Episcopal Church. Now, I dislike very much to hang a member of that church, so I commuted her sentence."

As the Governor said this in all apparent seriousness, and as it was a fact that the condemned murderess had been a prominent and active church member, the indignant High Church woman concentrated her feelings in one withering look, turned on her heel, marched quickly to the door and closed it behind her with a very emphatic slam without saying a word. The Governor was never approached upon that subject after that by the lady from Cleveland.

The most doleful people I ever met are the perpetual fun-makers, such men as Charles Lamb, Thomas Hood, and Artemus Ward, and others I might mention, whose lives have been to make sport.—[Talmage. We doubt very much if Mr. Talmage ever met the late Charles F. Browne, and we are prepared to wager long odds—say a dime to a $5000 subscription to the Jabbernacle debt—that he never met Thomas Hood or Charles Lamb. We are ready to double the odds, too, that he never will meet them.—[N. Y. World.

An old servant enters the shop of an apothecary and presents him a prescription in which is ordered a potion containing two decigrammes of morphine. The apothecary's assistant weighs the dangerous ingredient with the greatest care. "What a shame!" said the old woman to him, with a shove at his elbow. "Come, don't be so stingy, it is for an orphan."—[French Paper.

.....Mr. Adams, the founder of the Adams Express Company, and the late Captain Colt of Norwich, were close friends, and it is related that the former often sailed with the captain on his voyage between New York and Norwich. On one of these journeys, Mr. Adams said to Captain Colt, "I wish I could find something to do." The captain, with his well-known business readiness, replied, "Do you see those bundles and packages in the berth of my stateroom? Their number is increasing with every trip; they are in the way, and the care and attention I have to give to them consumes more time than I can afford. Suppose you collect and take charge of these private packages for a fair compensation. I think you can easily build up a paying business." Mr. Adams was not slow to grasp the idea and embrace the offer. From this obscure and insignificant beginning sprung in a short time the Adams Express Company.

A LADY'S WONDERFUL NERVE.

Mrs. Isadore Middleton, a very beautiful woman, and one of the acknowledged leaders of fashion in Mobile, can certainly boast of the possession of as much nerve and true moral courage as are often vouchsafed to any of her sex.

On the evening of September 19th, she was in her boudoir putting away some articles of jewelry, when she noticed that the peculiar position of a library lamp, that was burning upon a chair in the back part of the room, had thrown upon the floor, almost directly at her feet, the shadow of a man who was crouching under a broad-topped ornamental table in the centre of the room. She also remarked that the open hand of the shadow had but two fingers, and remembered that several desperate burglaries had recently been committed in the neighborhood, suppositionsly by a negro desperado who was notorious as having lost two fingers of his right hand.

Mr. Middleton was absent from the city, and, beside herself in the house, there was but a single maid servant. Instead of fainting with fear, or shrieking for help, the brave lady seated herself at the very table underneath which the miscreant was concealed, and rang for the servant.

"Hand me writing materials, Bridget," said she, with perfect calmness. "I want you to take a note this instant to Mr. Forfar, the jeweler, and have him send you back with my diamond necklace and ear drops which I left there for repairs several days ago. Bring them with you, no matter if fully repaired or not. They are by twenty fold the most valuable articles of jewelry that I possess, and I do not wish to pass another night without having them in my bureau drawer."

The note was at once written and dispatched, but instead of being in the tenor that she had signified (on purpose for the concealed robber to overhear, for she had no jewelry under repair), it was a hasty note to the jeweler, an intimate friend, in which she succinctly stated her terrible position, and urged him to hasten to her relief, with the requisite police assistance, immediately on receipt of the missive.

The agonies which that refined and delicate woman underwent when left alone in the house, with the consciousness of the presence of that desperate robber, perhaps assassin, as well, crouched under the very table upon which she leaned, and perhaps touched by her very skirts, can only be left to the reader's imagination; but her iron nerve sustained her through the ordeal.

She yawned, hummed an operatic air, turned over the leaves of a novel, and in other ways lulled the lurker into a sense of perfect security and expectancy, and waited, waited with a wildly beating heart, and her eyes fastened upon the hands of her little ormolu clock with a greedy, feverish gaze.

At last, however, came the prayer for relief. There was a ring at the door bell, and she strolled carelessly into the hall and down stairs to open it. The ruse had been a success. She not only admitted Bridget, but also Mr. Forfar and three stalwart policemen. The latter passed stealthily up stairs and into the boudoir, where they suddenly pounced upon the concealed burglar so unexpectedly as to secure him with hardly a struggle.

The prisoner proved to be a negro criminal, named Chapman, but mostly known as "Two-Fingered Jeff," who was in great request about that time for several robberies committed in the neighborhood a short time before, and he is now serving a twenty years' sentence in the Alabama state prison.

LAWS FOR THE LOBSTER.

In conversation with several dealers in lobsters the statement was made that if our Legislature did not desire to see that delicious shell-fish entirely banished from our waters, and become a far greater rarity, at higher cost, than any other fish, they should pass an act, with severe penalties attached, prohibiting lobster-catching during the months of August, September, October and November in every year. During these months the lobster is very thin, its meat dry and poor, and it takes several to weigh as much as an ordinary good-sized lobster. The factories, however, catch them in such great quantities that the fishermen have to seize the fish wherever they can get them to get a living. It would be better for the factories, as well as for the fisherman, if they would allow the lobsters sufficient time to recruit. They might not make as much in one year, but what they now gain this year they lose in the multiplication of years, and if this wholesale extermination goes on much longer lobster salad, or fresh sweet lobsters, will be an almost unknown dish in Maine.—[Portland (Me.) Press.

SHE SEWED ON HIS BUTTONS.

Old Blummer is tight-fisted. Several days ago he said to his wife: "Marie, I want you to look over that broadcloth vest of mine and put new buttons on it, 'cause I'm going to a card party tonight."

"But, Ely," answered Mrs. B., "I haven't any buttons to match that vest;——"

"Thunder!" broke in Blummer, "the idea of a woman keeping house as long as you have, an' pretendin' to be out of buttons. By George! I b'lieve you'll ask me for money to buy 'em with next."

That evening Blummer hurried through his supper and began arraying himself for the card party. Presently he called for the broadcloth vest, and Mrs. B., with marvellous promptitude, handed it to him. He took it, hastily unfolded it, and then, as he eye took in its complete appearance, he stood as one transfixed. It was a six-button vest, and there were six buttons on it, and the dazed optic of Blummer observed that the first, or top one, was a tiny pearl shirt-button, and that the next one was a brass army-overcoat button, with U. S. gleaming upon it, and that number three was an oxydized silver affair, and that number four was a horn button, evidently from the back of one of the Puritan fathers' coats, and then a suspender button, and then, as the dazzled eyes of old Blummer reached the bottom—a poker chip (found in Blummer's pocket) with two holes punched through it—he gave a snort that made the chandelier jingle. There is, after all, a fine sense of humor about Blummer, and he laughed till he cried. And there won't be any button money grudged in that household hereafter.

VENTILATION A NECESSITY.—A "professor of ventilation" down east, being put into a room at a hotel with another guest, asked the latter to raise a window at night, as the air was so close. "I can't raise it," said the guest, after working at the window for a while. "Then knock a pane of glass out," said the professor, which was done. After a while the professor got up and knocked out another pane; then he was able to sleep. But in the morning he discovered that he had only broken into a book-case.

A refractory Irishman in jail, named Dennis McGinniss, refused to work. The keeper said to him: "McGinniss, you go to work or to the pump." "Niver," replied the Irishman. A second time the keeper ordered McGinniss to work, but he refused to budge an inch. "Now, for the last time, McGinniss," exclaimed the keeper, "you go to work or to the pump." "Niver, sir" said McGinniss, straightening up to the full dignity of a man. "Bedad, sir, I'll lave the jail first."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A SOURCE OF MUCH BODILY EVIL.

If the habit of body becomes irregular, much evil is inflicted on the system. The stomach becomes dyspeptic, bilious symptoms develop themselves, the circulation is contaminated, and the nerves share in the general disorder. It is of the utmost importance that the bowels should be thoroughly and speedily regulated when they grow derelict. The corrective agent best adapted to this purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a wholesome, non-griping vegetable laxative, worth all the rasping cathartics invented since the time of Farnelsus. People who have been in the habit of using blue pill, calomel, and other drugs and cheap nostrums for constipation, should abandon such hurtful and useless medicines, and substitute for them this pleasant and gentle aperient, which not only produces the purgative effect naturally, but also strengthens while it regulates the bowels, stomach and liver. It moreover cures and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, gout, rheumatism, debility and urinary troubles. feb12-1w-naj

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using in German, French, or English. STEAM HEATING.

THE GAS LIGHT COMPANY have added to their Gas Fitting Department the business of heating buildings by steam. The cost of steam apparatus has hitherto proved a bar to its general introduction; but at present, ordinary houses can be fitted with steam appliances for a small advance on the cost of a furnace. The superior healthfulness of steam heat, its admirable distribution, economy of fuel, and perfect self-regulation are points in its favor, which far outweigh the consideration of a small additional expense for the apparatus. Parties building, or desiring to change their mode of heating, are invited to apply at the office of the company, and obtain estimates of cost. Cellars too low to admit a furnace can have our boiler set up in them.

The Newport Daily News and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon, (Sundays excepted,) at the News building, 28 Church street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning, and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, the latest markets, and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large, 32 column paper, and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week, payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal will be sent to any address in the United States, postage paid, for $2 00 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the WHOLE YEAR is paid STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter, are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra, and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the daily for one week or longer. Funeral notices 50 cents each. Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business and are allowed twenty five changes a year. The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both the News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

Connected with the News is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

The Rev. S. W. Coggeshall, D. D., so well known in Newport and vicinity, is again in very poor health.

Now that Ben. Butler is so friendly with the South perhaps he can be persuaded to return those spoons.

There are said to be sixty milk wagons engaged in the trade in Newport. "Shall we gather at the river."

The Providence Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church holds its next session in Taunton on the 16th of April. Bishop Gilbert Haven will preside.

A movement has been made in Chicago to encourage Irish immigration by calling together accredited representatives of Irish organizations in the United States.

Lord Houghton, who is coming over to America again next summer, will bring a large party of distinguished Englishmen and their families along with him to visit "the States."

Col. George E. Waring, Jr., has the first of a series of Tyrolese sketches called "Berg-und Thal," accompanied by fourteen wood-cuts, in the March number of Harper's Magazine.

The Messrs. Barron, who have kept the Twin Mountain and Crawford houses at the White Mountains, have now hired the Fabyan House and will run all three next season. The rent of the latter house is $12,000.

The reported shop-lifting on a large scale in this city creates quite a sensation among our merchants. The list of articles said to have been stolen appears elsewhere. Hereafter ladies with black eyes, and waterproofs, will be watched more closely.

The New York Graphic says: Mr. Augustus Whiting, of the Coaching Club, whose marriage to Miss Green was one of the events of last season, is spending the winter at Newport, where he drives his coach-and-four regularly every day and always has a party of fashionables on the roof.

The steamship "Hooper," of the Baring line, sailed from Boston last week with 415 beef cattle; 150 live sheep; 150,000 bushels of grain; 1,000 tons of provisions; 1,500 bales of cotton, and a large line of other produce. The "Hooper" is the largest freight steamship that crosses the Atlantic.

The pedestrian fever is raging rapidly in New York. It has broken out worse in the Bowery, and the Times states that nothing short of the total annihilation of one or two of the more prominent walkers, and a rigid quarantine of the infected region, can prevent the rapid spreading of the contagion. We are informed that another match is on the tapies in this city. Is there no remedy?

Mr. Burchard of Illinois has been appointed Superintendent of the Mint at Washington. The Graphic says of him: Mr. Burchard has been a careful student of monetary and economical subjects. He has come to conclusions of his own in regard to many of them. And on the question of silver remonetization he reached the sound conclusion that silver remonetization was not only just but opportune. It is certainly very proper that the officer into whose hands, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, has been committed the execution of the silver law, should be in sympathy with it.

Mr. Bergh is still alive and hard at work in the interest of the poor dumb animals. His latest exploit was in behalf of the dogs. One Jennings started from New York for New Orleans with twenty-one bull dogs, all trained for a fight, and was to hold a dog tournament in that highly civilized city where there was no law against such things. He went by water as taking dogs by rail is not so convenient, nor so cheap. Bergh heard of it, telegraphed on that Jennings was coming, and his friends stirred up the legislature which was in session, so that a bill prohibiting dog fights was introduced, passed, and approved by the Governor, before the arrival of Jennings. The astonishment of that worthy knew no bounds when he found himself in that distant city with his business outlawed. Like the late Manton Marble he was a man without occupation, and there was nothing left for him to do but to return to New York bringing his curs with him but leaving his curse behind.

The United States minister at Vienna, in a despatch to Secretary Evarts, gives an elaborate description of the Russian plague. He considers it more fatal than cholera, the mortality in some places being equal to one hundred per cent. An effective quarantine is suggested as the only means of its entire suppression. Surgeon-General Woodworth also calls attention to the rapid spread of the disease and recommends that measures be at once adopted to prevent its reaching our shores. As matters now go there is danger that the plague will cross the Atlantic and make us a visit. Perhaps if it should come to Newport we might prevail on our city council to give us a Board of Health.

The Chinese must go. Kearneyism is triumphant in Congress where the aspiring politicians bow before what they deem a popular demand for a violation of treaty obligations with one third the population of the globe. The United States Senate on Saturday, after another protracted debate, passed the bill restricting Chinese immigration substantially as it came from the House, the vote standing 39 to 27. It is thought this will seriously impair our commercial relations with the East and give England a great advantage over us in trade. But all that is of no account compared with the prospect of carrying California at the next election. But as both parties supported the bill neither can make any capital out of it.

Bishop Coxe of the Protestant Episcopal Church publishes a letter in the Tribune taking strong ground against the revision of the text of the English Bible, and especially against its publication of the new edition by the American Bible society. Many people are prepared to sympathize with him, and yet it would be difficult to give a good reason why obsolete and forgotten words should be kept in use in the sacred book. As a whole the text of the authorized edition cannot be excelled and the instances are rare where a change can be made for the better. But those cases exist, and certainly the truths of revelation should be given to the world in the best language possible. The present revision is made by the best scholars from all the churches and is in the interest of no sect or creed. Careful attention has been given to the whole subject, and while great care is taken to translate the Bible into the best forms of speech for other lands, there is no good reason why it should not enjoy the same distinction at home. A change in the text may possibly shock our prejudices but it is well to remember that the present form is no part of the divine revelation, and that the translation which we use is but one of many. It will not do to place too much reliance on the letter of the law; it is the spirit which giveth life.

The way in which to make business successful in Newport is for each man to do his part. We need less grumbling about the hard times, fewer evil predictions concerning the future and a closer attention to home interests. Too much of our money is sent out of town in the way of trade, leaving our own dealers without business and without profits. Our attention is often called to cases of this kind. Even the merchants themselves sometimes furnish examples to their customers, seeming to think that the rule to patronize home industry is applicable to others but not to themselves. We could cite cases where this is done when it is known to be of no possible advantage, the goods bought abroad being neither better nor cheaper. If a dry goods man buys his stationery from a peddler's wagon, he must not complain if the proprietors of the stationery stores send to Boston for their silks and calicoes. If the boot and shoe dealer gets his hardware in Providence he cannot feel that it is strange if the hardware man sends to the same city for supplies. And so on through the whole list. As a matter of fact our dealers can and ought to sell as cheaply as do those of other cities, especially if they have the full trade of our own people. And our people ought to encourage the men who deal liberally by giving them that trade. Such a course will be of mutual benefit and do more than a thousand lectures on the subject to restore the era of financial prosperity and business confidence.

THE GIRL TO GET.

The true girl has to be sought for. She does not parade herself as show goods. She is not fashionable. Generally she is not rich. But oh! what a heart she has when you find her! So large and pure and womanly. When you see it, you wonder if those showy things outside were women. If you gain her love, your two thousand are millions. She'll not ask you for a carriage or a first-class house. She'll wear simple dresses, and turn them when necessary, with no vulgar magnificat to frown upon her economy. She'll keep everything neat and nice in your sky parlor, and give you such a welcome when you come home that you'll think your parlor higher than ever. She'll entertain your friends on a dollar, and astonish you with the thought how little happiness depends on money. She'll make you love home (if you don't you're a brute), and teach you how to pity, while you scorn a poor fashionable society that makes itself rich, and vainly tries to make itself happy.

Now, do not, I pray you, say any more "I can't afford to marry." Go, find the true woman and you can. Throw away that cigar, burn up that switch cane, be sensible yourself, and seek your wife in a sensible way.—[Oliver Wendell Holmes.

PANTOMIME AT THE OPERA HOUSE.—To-morrow evening Tony Denier's pantomime troupe appears at the Opera House. The performance will have a sufficient variety to satisfy the most exacting in this line. The New York World says:—The frequenters of the Olympic Theatre were entertained by the dumb mirth of pantomime last evening. The quaint grimaces and grotesque gestures of Grimaldi, forcibly recalling to mind the acting of poor Fox, kept the audience in a state of incessant merriment. The performance was judiciary, sprinkled with variety presentations, which assisted greatly in keeping up the full tide of interest and merriment. The house was well filled, and the audience gave ample evidence of their appreciation of the entertainment prepared for them.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—The Brenton Reef buoy has gone adrift.

—Lieut. T. H. Barker, U. S. A., has returned to his post at Fort Adams after a two months' leave of absence.

—In the graduating class of cadet engineers at Annapolis, J. H. Baker, Jr., son of Capt. Baker of the Samuel Dexter, ranks 21.

—Mr. Enos Hayward who was severely injured some time since by a fall from his wagon at the beach is able to be about town.

—Capt. D. P. Heap, U. S. Engineers, will lecture before the Newport Historical Society at Redwood Library tomorrow at 12 o'clock.

—Propeller Santee, of New Bedford, has been chartered by the Old Colony, and today left Fall River with a load of freight, bound for New York.

—Our storekeepers should take warning from the story printed in another column. Shop-lifters, male or female, will also do well to read the story and profit by it.

—Since the reduction in fares by the Old Colony Steamboat Company travel has been remarkably brisk. Freight business is also remarkably good for this time of the year.

—Mrs. Geo. H. Norman and Miss Norman sailed in the White Star steamer Germanic from New York for Liverpool on Saturday. They will remain abroad about three months.

—Mr. William Mathers, of the Newport orchestra, played a fine cornet solo at the Opera House Saturday evening which was deservingly applauded. It was his own composition.

—It sounds natural to hear the name of Wm. C. Cozzens & Co., again, among our business houses. The new firm are laying in a first class stock at the old stand and setting their house in order for business.

—Chas. E. Truesdell, who has had temporary charge of the signal office in Newport, leaves tonight for Brookeuridge, Minnesota, where he has been assigned to duty, and will have charge of the signal office at that place.

—Schooner Ann S. Brown, from Providence for New York, collided Saturday near Newport with schooner Speedwell, also from Providence for New York, carrying away the former's jibboom and tearing the Speedwell's mainsail badly. Both vessels returned for repairs.

—Rev. Mr. Burns, the revivalist, preached at the Thames-street M. E. Church yesterday afternoon and also in the evening. The evening service was one long to be remembered. The house was packed and every inch of standing room in the anterooms, aisles, and vestibule, was occupied and a large number were unable even to secure the privilege of standing. The meeting was one of great interest. The second meeting held until half-past ten o'clock, and this also was a very spirited one, two persons going to the altar for prayers. The meetings will be continued during the week.

JANE SHORE.

The drama Jane Shore, as represented at the Opera House on Saturday evening was a great success and was received with much enthusiasm. The house was filled. Miss Ward, in the title role, charmed everyone by her beauty, and graceful acting, and was repeatedly applauded.

Mr. Levick as "Henry Shore" and Mr. Craig as "the baker" filled their parts to perfection. The rest of the support was unusually good. The costumes and armor were very beautiful and the stage was well set out, the snow scene being particularly fine.

The fourth act from "Henry the Eighth," given in the latter part of the evening, with Mr. Levick as "Cardinal Wolsey," gave much pleasure, and the wish was expressed by many that the whole of this play might be given here by the same company before long. We judge that Manager Smith's enterprise in bringing these fine artists to Newport was fully met by the receipts at the box office.

A LARGE ESTATE.—The will of Mrs. Rebecca Jones, widow of the late Isaac Colford Jones, of New York and who is one of our well-known summer residents, was filed in that city on Thursday in the Surrogate's office. In the will she bequeaths to her daughter-in-law, Catharine M. Jones, $10,000; to her nephew, Woodbury G. Langdon, $10,000; an annuity of $300 a year to Miss Sarah M. Chase, $150 to Abigail Reynolds, $1,000 in cash to "The Sheltering Arms," $1,000 to the House of Rest for Consumptives, $1,000 for the Children's Aid Society. All her real estate on the East side of Fifth avenue, between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth streets, she leaves to her daughter, Helen Langdon. All her other real estate, including her house and grounds and stable at Newport, together with her stocks, bonds, and securities she leaves equally between her three grandchildren, Sidney Colford Jones, Edith Colford Iselin, and Helen Adele Jones. The executors are William G. Landgon, Lewis G. Hamersley, and William Cruikshank.

SHOP-LIFTING EXTRAORDINARY.

SOME FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—HOW TWO PRETTY, BLACK-EYED LADIES VICTIMIZED OUR SHOPKEEPERS.—A SYSTEMATIC SHOP-LIFTING SCHEME.—ARREST OF THE PARTIES AND DISCOVERY OF ABOUT $500 WORTH OF THE GOODS.

Mr. George Carr, who keeps a dry-goods store on Bridge street, is one of the class who does not have as much confidence in some of the female sex as many of his friends in the same line of business. Recently two neat looking ladies visited his store for the purpose of purchasing some goods. While he was in the rear of his shop showing one of them some goods he noticed the other arranging her water-proof about her neck. After the pair had gone he missed three Brussels rugs but he was unwilling to think that his black-eyed customer was the person who had stolen them. Subsequently Mr. Carr had the privilege of waiting upon another young lady, who is in the habit of visiting the house of the alleged shop-lifters, whose names are Mrs. Thomas Knowe and her sister, Miss Clara Rivette, both of French descent. The customer admired some of Mr. Carr's rugs and she was requested to purchase one of them. She informed Mr. Carr that they were two high. She had seen some of the same quality and pattern at a friend's house and thought them very pretty. Mr. Carr was inquisitive enough to inquire who her friends were and was not surprised when she told him that they were the two young ladies above mentioned. Mr. Carr was not long in determining what course to pursue. He called upon Captain Hammond and that official secured a search warrant with Marshal Read as surety. The Captain took Officer Albro with him to the residence of the alleged shop-lifters. He was not, as might be expected, received cordially. He instituted a search at once and found Mr. Carr's rugs and nine pairs of woolen stockings which were also the property of Mr. Carr. Other things were found in profusion and this satisfied him that he had a "big sensation," as the reporters call it, to work up. He took the pair to the station house. A warrant was served on Mrs. Knowe, but it was decided not to arrest her sister as Mr. Carr was confident that she did not have the opportunity to steal from him upon her last visit to his place of business. Late in the evening it became noised about that a large quantity of goods had been found and these were subsequently identified by some of our leading business people. The Captain and Officer Albro again went to Mrs. Knowe's house and arrested her and her sister. They were driven to the station about eleven o'clock and both were served with warrants, making two which had been served upon Mrs. Knowe. They furnished bail, Mrs. Knowe's brother-in-law, Peter Knowe, becoming surety for their appearance before Judge Topham on Friday next.

The accused parties were in the habit of visiting the stores together, and whether it was pleasant or stormy they always wore their water-proofs, which provoked some comment. Their suspicious movements were known to the clerks in the Boston store, and to Mr. Brown of the firm of William Sherman & Co., and they were always watched when they visited them. It was not so in other stores. No other clerks thought that they were light-fingered, and their surprise can better be imagined than described when looking upon and identifying their property at the Station House yesterday. The shop lifters were not shrewd about everything, for if they had been they would not have allowed the cost and selling price, tags, and other marks by which the goods could be identified, to remain on them. They informed the officers that the majority of the articles were procured in Providence, Fall River, Canada, and other places. This unfortunately for them is not the truth.

The following list of stolen goods will be read with interest:—

T. M. Seabury—Four pairs of French kid boots and one pair of white kid boots.

Caswell, Hazard & Co.—Two large bottles of perfumery.

Edward W. Lawton—One large piece of fringe worth $1.50 per yard, several pieces of silk, Hamburg edging, lace edging, four or five pieces of Teuton ribbon, some of which is worth $9.00 per yard, and a piece of velvet.

J. B. F. Denman—Four pairs of three-button opera kid boots, one pair of French kid boots. Two pairs of rubber leggins, three or four yards of velvet, one-half of a piece of veiling net, and one dozen pieces of millinery silk.

W. B. Sherman, Jr.,—One handsome pocket-book.

A. C. Landers—Album and looking-glass.

Walter Sherman—Hamburg edgings and braid.

McCarthy & Diesel—One large traveling bag and a nickel-plated shawl strap.

George Carr—Three rugs and nine pairs of men's woollen stockings.

H. E. Turner, Jr.,—One piece of colored silk worth $10, one piece brown silk, Japanese box, one-half dozen handkerchiefs, five handkerchiefs, one handkerchief, fourteen handkerchiefs, music roll, piece of plaid goods, Hamburg edging, piece of dress goods, six silk handkerchiefs, three and a half yards of fringe, 7¾ yards silk, 9½ yards silk, 3½ yards silks, eight handkerchiefs, one pair of socks and one piece of cashmere worth $21.00.

Perry Brothers—Whole piece of dress goods, pair of stockings and some edgings.

John M. Swan—Two pairs of shoes.

There are several other articles at the Station House which, as yet, have not been identified. They are mostly small articles of millinery goods, cuffs, collars, artificial flowers, edging, &c.

Some are of the opinion that they were in the habit of taking goods out of the city and selling them. Quite a number of the goods were packed in a trunk and it is presumed that they were about to be taken out of town. This business has, without doubt, been carried on for a long time and now that the women are in the meshes of the law it is expected that the shopkeepers and their clerks will breathe easier.

Joe. Rivette, arrested some time ago in Providence for securing two watches at Mr. W. R. Pitman's on Broadway is a brother of the women arrested.

SEWERAGE SYSTEMS.

The inquiry into the imperfect drainage of the city of Washington has brought out some interesting information relating to the sewerage system of Europe. It is contained in a report made by Civil Engineer Karweiss to the Senate Committee on the District of Columbia. The importance of the subject warrants the publication of the abstract of the report which we print today.

This special information is as important for New York as for Washington, although we may not be so greatly pressed to act upon it here. The waters of our rivers and bay have done a great deal of scavenger work for us and have done it effectually so far; but there may be a limit to their capacity in this respect. Hitherto it has not been thought necessary to do anything more than to turn the refuse of the city into the Hudson or the East River; the responsibility of its further disposal has been thrown upon the tides and the currents. The time may come, however, when the responsibility will be thrown back upon us. It has happened in the history of European cities that a river long used as a great sewer has become gradually choked with its contents and has grown so foul and offensive as to compel the adoption of some other method of drainage. The report to which we refer mentions several cases of this kind. They show distinctly enough that sooner or later a like evil in New York will call for remedies similar to those which have been applied in these cases, or better ones if they can be found. Timely attention given to the matter may save trouble and expense and avert danger.

This question of the disposal of refuse presents itself in two aspects: What not to do with it, and what to do with it. The first is the more obvious and the easier of solution. Hitherto these varied accumulations of the city have been put into the water which washes its shores. Plainly this is the thing not to do. It would be such a thing if what was desired was simply and only to get rid of the refuse, if it was of no other possible concern to us. Getting rid of it that way, we pollute the water and make the places of deposit offensive if not pestilential. The health of the city is due in no small measure to the wholesome and salt impregnated breezes which blow over it. By and by the salt will encounter more foulness than it can sweeten. Its savor will be counteracted. Instead of an agent of health the water will become an instrument of disease. It will certainly pay us back what we give it. Not only will this getting rid process be injurious, but, as we have said, the process will by and by cease to work. But it is not a mere question of getting rid of refuse. We know that however objectionable these city accumulations may be in certain conditions, in other conditions they are useful and valuable. They are excellent fertilizers. There are not many things more incongruous and absurd than the fact that the vessels which bring to us from foreign lands expensive material for the enrichment of the soil meet, on their way up from Sandy Hook, other vessels carrying as good material to be cast into the sea beyond the bar; while the very water upon which they sail bears in the same direction enormous quantities of material which might be utilized for a like purpose. The present method of disposal therefore is not only ineffectual but wasteful. What not to do with the city's refuse is precisely what we are systematically doing.

What to do with it is practically a more difficult question; but science, which has made advances so wonderful in respect to other matters, ought to be able to do something with this one. Something has been done in European cities, as appears from Mr. Karwiess's report. Improving their sewerage system these cities have closed sources of disease and at the same time have proved the practicability of turning the sewage itself to good account. The results secured are worth much in themselves, but are of greater interest and value in what they suggest and promise.

Our city fathers—if we may be said now to have any—should study this report. The sewerage of New York, owing to natural advantages more than to anything else, is better than that of other American cities; but the time is coming when the whole system of the cleansing of the town in its broadest sense must be reformed. In that work the experience and the experiments of older communities will be a valuable guide.—[N. Y. Post.

THE PERIODICALS.

THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW for March is in hand. The leading article is a symposium on Negro Suffrage, by Senators Blaine and Lamar, Gov. Hampton, Representatives Garfield and Stephens, Wendell Phillips, Montgomery Blair, and ex-Gov. Hendricks. Mr. Blaine opens and closes the discussion. He claims that the Negro was wisely and justly enfranchised, and should not be deprived of his right to the ballot, but that he is practically disfranchised by intimidation; and he demands for him all of the privileges that have been granted him by constitutional amendments. Messrs. Lamar, Stephens and Hampton insist that the political liberty of the Negro is not seriously interfered with, and argue that if the South be let alone all of the difficulties growing out of emancipation will adjust themselves. Hampton says that a qualified suffrage would have been better for the Negro, and Stephens declares that if an attempt should be made to deprive the Southern States of their present representation in Congress on the plea that the Negro is not allowed to vote in accordance with his convictions, it would be the most wanton outrage that ever was undertaken in any country. Mr. Blair takes the ground that Negro Suffrage is and always must be a failure, and instances the trial made with the blacks in the West Indies by the English. Wendell Phillips asserts that the colored voters have exhibited as much wisdom in politics as have their white neighbors, and that the South was better governed under Negro rule than it has since been under white legislation. Gen. Garfield thinks that colored suffrage has been more than fairly successful, and says that the era of peace and good feeling will come only when the Negro shall be allowed to cast his ballot without interference of any kind.

This discussion is followed by a paper on Philosophy of Jonathan Edwards, by Prof. George P. Fisher, of Yale, giving a summary of the works of Edwards and an analysis of his peculiar line of thought. Gen. Nelson A. Miles treats the Indian Problem at some length, stating many facts, and his reasons for believing that the Indians can be best managed under military supervision. J. R. G. Hassard, the translator of the famous cipher dispatches, presents a chapter on Cryptography, in which he explains fully the system by which secret characters are read. The closing pages of the number are devoted to a review of recent Russian novels, by S. E. Shevitch. Published at 551 Broadway, New York, and for sale by booksellers and newsdealers generally, at 50 cents per copy.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON for March has a sketch by Octave Thanet illustrating the strong hold Rev. Phillips Brook's preaching takes on certain classes, though his name is not given. Taking a Mean Advantage is a story by Edward Bellamy in which love conquers intemperance. There is a second contribution about Michael Faraday, the scientist, in which the vigor of his religion and the attractiveness of his character are shown. An article by an intelligent Chinese gentleman shows that infanticide in China is not greater than elsewhere. An article on changing Creeds points out the advantage of the positive over the negative method, in that the latter so often tends to general skepticism. A Working-woman's Bureau tells of Miss Jane Hulps and her work. Our Peculiar Sunday-School Teacher gives some objections to the International Lesson system, and suggestions on various other points. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps has An Hour with Gwendolyn, and there are also Our Debt to Socrates, a long installment of Calvin the Sinner, and Ministerial Backsheen.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY has an attractive table of contents, and will prove livelier reading than any of the half-dozen past numbers. It contains articles by W. W. Story, Richard Grant White, George W. Julian, Mark Twain and N. S. Shaler, with stories by "H. B. K." and Katharine Carrington, and a capital "Contributors' Club." Mr. Howells brings his delightful story, "The Lady of the Aroostook," to a close. The number is particularly rich in poetry. Of the two poems by Whittier we copy today "The Landmarks," and also Longfellow's "the Chamber Over the Gate." Whittier's other poem is in memory of Bayard Taylor. There are, beside, "The Ballad of Christopher Aske," by Rose Terry Cooke, and "Faint Heart," by Lucy Lee Pleasants.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

The Royal Baking Powder is a pure Cream of Tartar powder, made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes much farther and works much better than saleratus, soda, or cream of tartar.

☞ Most of the Cream of Tartar of commerce is adulterated with Alum, Terra Alba, etc. Doctors pronounce Alum most dangerous to health; its costs but 2c. a pound, Cream of Tartar over 30c. The Royal Baking Powder is recommended for its wholesomeness by such eminent chemists as Dr. Mott, New York: Dr. S. Dana Hayes, Boston. Sold only in cans. At Grocers.

☞ BAKING POWDER should never be sold in paper packages, as it becomes stale and deteriorated upon exposure to the atmosphere.

RULES FOR LADIES TRAVELLING ALONE.

From time to time we read of mishaps meeting women travelling alone, till it sometimes seems as if it were utterly unsafe for a woman to travel alone. Still, women must travel, and very often, alone, and, by exercise of due caution and foresight there is no reason why it should not be perfectly safe for them to do so.

There are a few rules which, if followed, it seems, would save a world of anxiety and trouble.

1. Before starting on a journey familiarize yourself with the route, and with names of good hotels at the various stopping-places.

2. Never travel with just enough money, but always carry enough to provide for any possible emergency. This will save much anxiety.

3. Wear but little jewelry, and keep the larger part of your money in some inside-pocket, out of sight.

4. Always look after yourself, and do not allow a stranger to procure your tickets or checks for your baggage.

5. Avoid, if possible, making changes in cars by night; but, when unavoidable, go with others. Do not become separated from the crowd.

6. Take no hacks, but go in an omnibus where there are other people. These are perfectly safe.

7. If in any doubt as to changing cars, checking baggage, etc., inquire in advance of the conductor. The conductors on our trains are always polite and willing to be of service, especially to women traveling alone.

8. Do not wait till about to make some change in train before inquiring of the conductor, for, ten to one, he will then be hurried, and you will only half inform yourself.

9. Under all circumstances endeavor to retain your presence of mind. One who can do this will have no trouble travelling, and, instead of its being unwise for women to travel alone, I think it an advantage for them to make trips alone, for there are few people who are not at times obliged to do so, and experience does away with much of the possible danger in travelling.

PERNICIOUS READING.

It is a well-known fact that the country is overrun with a rank growth of cheap and pernicious literature, corrupting in its influence, and destructive to public morality. The results of this are patent to all. Many a youth who ends a once promising career in a felon's cell dates his downfall and ruin to the lessons of seductive vice culled from the pages of some immoral novel or paper while yet in the school-room; and many a woman goes through life with her tastes vitiated and moral standard lowered from the same evil cause.

In the effete monarchies of the Old World, at which good republicans are presumed to rail, there exist censorships of the press, originally intended, beyond doubt, to purify literature, however far they may fall short of their purpose. Such institutions are dangerous in tendency, and very properly disallowed here. But since nothing of the kind finds place among us, it all the more behooves public opinion to exercise this censorship on its own part, and to set its face against all publications tending to corrupt the youth of the land. A fearful responsibility devolves on the people in this matter, and more especially on the heads of families and all who have the young in charge. No book or paper should be placed in a child's hands that has not been carefully read and approved by some person of competent judgment, and no publication of a character unfit for family reading should be allowed to cross the threshold of the home.—[Harper's Bazar.

EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 10, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1846, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly,

INSURANCE

AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE

CAUSED BY

ACCIDENT, INCENDIARISM, LIGHTNING

Or any Other Cause.

I REPRESENT the oldest company in America, and also the largest company in the United States, together with other standard American and European institutions. The Ætna of Hartford alone has paid over $45,000,000 in losses, and has now $7,000,000 assets in hand.

Insurance in such companies, with ample means, and an established reputation for fair dealing, is worth much more than in any of the numerous wealthings that totter along for a while and then go down. About fifty such companies have failed during the last year, and as many others are on the way to ruin.

The rates in these first-class companies are no higher than in the small and doubtful concerns.

Farm property taken very low for three or five years.

All losses settled at this office. For terms call on, or address by mail the undersigned at the office of this paper. L. D. DAVIS.

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrate the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM of SAFETY SIGNALS,

Janney Coupler Buffer and Platform,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE
